88	World War II Artifacts	Heslop gathered and preserved the following artifacts from his nine months in Europe: a German armband; three small Nazi banner flags with swastikas; two caps; a large Nazi flag, with a black swastika on white surrounded by red. This flag is signed on the back by many of his buddies in the 167th Signal Photo Co. Also included among the artifacts is a smaller swastika on a round piece of tan cloth; two shirt patches declaring Heslop an "Official U.S. War Photographer," and a 6" Nazi badge emblem belonging to a German military police helmet. Finally there are four different shoulder or sleeve patches as follows: U.S. Second Army shoulder sleeve insignia; the Twelfth U.S. Army Group patch, 1944-1945; the 80th Infantry "Blue Ridge Division," and the WWII U.S. Meritorious Service Unit Badge.	ca. 1944-1945
